

President's Note

Dear Members of AACA,

Happy Fall - I hope your teaching and research are going well. The Council of the AACA met in October for our Interim Council meeting, and our standing committees reported on their recent activities and made requests for funding for the coming year. Our meeting manager Dr. Jennifer Burgoon, our friends from the Association Services Group, and our Executive Council have been busy preparing for next year's conference as well as arranging for AACA representation at other national and international conferences.

Winter is coming, perhaps a little slower down here in Houston than in the northern climes. Stay warm and have a wonderful holiday season. We look forward to seeing all of you again next year when we celebrate our 40th Annual Conference July 9-12, 2023 in warm and sunny Orlando, Florida.

Sincerely,

Thomas R. Gest, PhD
President, AACA

Share Some News!

We are interested in promoting communications between all AACA members, and we believe that our newsletter will help in this effort. Therefore, if you would like to share your news, remind people of a conference, announce an award or a call for papers, or if you are looking for a research collaborator, please send a 75 word (maximum) note to our newsletter editor, Dr. Mohammed Khalil, DVM, MEd, PhD KHALILMK@greenvillemed.sc.edu. Make sure your message is clear, appropriate, and includes your contact information.

You can also request for future content or news to be shared. Content can be submitted using the following form: <https://forms.gle/o8SHcy2eDEf5Twyv6>

Why Attend Learn Serve Lead 2022: The AAMC Annual Meeting?

As part of the Group on Educational Affairs (GEA), your commitment to faculty and curriculum development, educational research, and assessment in undergraduate, graduate, and continuing medical education is already clear. One of the best ways to further these goals is to meet with your community, and what better way to connect than by attending the in-person Learn Serve Lead 2022 reunion in Nashville this fall?
