

Award Winner Information Sheet

Your Name: Amy Amabile, PT, PhD

Your Institution: Formerly associate professor at the Temple University School of Podiatric Medicine and Lewis Katz School of Medicine. Currently adjunct faculty at Thomas Jefferson University, and Philadelphia College of Osteopathic Medicine

Did you win a Poster or Platform presentation? Poster

Title of winning presentation: "Impact of Different Moisture Retention Strategies on Cadaver Tendon Desiccation."

Your Undergraduate and previous graduate training (if any): I received my PhD in Anatomy from Ohio State University; and my Master of Physical Therapy from the University of Texas at El Paso.

Your hometown: Chevy Chase, Maryland

Hobbies and or Special Interests: I have always loved reading – both fiction and non-fiction. My favorite recent reads include Nobel Prize winner Katalin Kariko's autobiography "Breaking Through;" and the Sean Duffy mystery/police procedural series by Adrian McKinty, set in Northern Ireland.

What would you like to see yourself doing 10 years from now? Honestly, 10 years from now I want to be doing the same things I am currently doing: teaching anatomy, conducting research, spending time with my family, a little bit of DIY home improvement, and possibly traveling a bit more within the US and abroad. I would like to spend a greater proportion of my time focused on community-based volunteer service work, which was a big part of my life in my early career days.
